

ABSTRACT

A door glass guide for vehicles includes a glass guide mounted and vertically fixed to a door panel. A garnish is joined to an upper end of the glass guide and vertically arranged and an elastic run channel is internally secured starting from an upper end of the garnish and extending to a lower end of the glass guide. A stabilizing assembly is mounted to the upper end of the glass guide and encompasses a lower outer surface of the garnish.

5